

COUNTRY LIFE[®]

OCTOBER 8, 2008

EVERY WEDNESDAY £3.20

Interior design

Top decorators give period houses a new contemporary feel

How to be the ultimate grandparent

Save a fortune by making your own diesel

Pick of the week

Autumn shows proliferate like Sarah Graham's giant artichokes in her show at Sims Reed, 30 Bury Street, St James's, SW1 (www.gallery.simsreed.com) from October 22 to November 14. In the 35 works, she is adding colour for the first time to what has been described as her '1950s US Expressionist, almost gothic' style. She is inspired by natural plant forms, and has exhibited twice at the Chelsea Flower Show. At the House & Garden show, her entire display was bought by the dealer Ken Talisman.

The portrait, landscape and architectural painter Richard Foster, one of the artists who The Daily Telegraph dubbed the 'Pin-Striped Painters', is holding a solo show at The Gallery, 28 Cork Street, W1, from October 13 to 18. Works from the exhibition can be seen on www.richardfoster.co.uk

